

Hello Pleasant Grove Community!

Our Grow Together Lecture Series is coming to a close for this year. But we have on more VERY exciting topic and guest coming to town. To bitcoin or not to bitcoin? That is the question.

We are pleased to announce that Matthew Poll, CEO of General Trader Fulfillment, a company that provides tools, software, and education for investing in financial markets, specifically crypto, will be our speaker. Recently Matthew helped pass three crypto bills for 2022 in the State of Utah including a Blockchain Task Force, a Crypto Acceptance bill, and a Property Rights bill for crypto. The title of his lecture: "Crypto - the good, bad, and ugly. Learn the benefits of the future of blockchain technology while also understanding the inherent risks of something new."

Additionally, a lot of crypto stories have been in the news lately and we could all use help making heads or tails of it. Matthew will help us understand a bit of context and teach us what the economy of the future might have in store for us.

This is bound to be one of the most relevant topics to date and we are excited to bring him in. Invite your friends and neighbors to come and learn with you. We want to go into the future with eyes wide open. This even will be held on Wednesday, December 14th at 7pm at the Grove Theater, 20 S Main, PG. For additional information please visit the website at <https://www.plgrove.org/arts/>.

See you there!

Pleasant Grove Arts Commission

Grow Together Lecture Series

Wednesday, December 14th

7pm at the Grove Theater, 20 S Main, Pleasant Grove

Matthew Poll is the CEO of General Trader Fulfillment, a company that provides proprietary tools, charting software and education for investing in the financial markets, specifically crypto and forex. With over 30 brands and 10's of thousands of students. Matthew's greatest strength is in identifying industry friction points and delivering real solutions. Recently Matthew has helped pass three crypto bills for 2022 in the state of Utah including a Blockchain Task Force, a Crypto Acceptance bill, and a Property Rights bill for crypto. As an entrepreneur, Matthew also loves new projects and has multiple other business ventures, blockchain projects and investments. He is a father of two boys which drives his passion for education, specifically in entrepreneurship for children. He serves on multiple local and national boards as a chairman, advisor, and board member. "Live to give" is one of his mottos and he specifically looks for organizations that have high impact in the local community when donating. Matthew also gives back to his community by providing personal coaching to 10 business owners and entrepreneurs a year.